No jobs lost in new hospital budget

By Janice Harrington

A cut of over $90,000 from the Mountain View Health Care Centre's budget has put the hospital in tight constraints but does not mean staff will be losing jobs.

Dennis Stabbler, hospital administrator for the Health Care Centre, said the budget, passed by the hospital board last week, manages to cover shortfalls left by the cut in the hospital's acute care funding.

"We have made some cuts as a result of the funding change in both long term care and acute care," said Stabbler. "But that mostly comes from putting a hiring freeze on positions. We have 4 or 5 positions that are vacant which we will just not fill, so in actual fact no one has lost their job."

Concern over staffing and program cuts came last month when changes to the formula for calculating acute care funding for rural hospitals were announced. The changes called for 43 rural hospitals, including the Mountain View Health Care Centre and the Olds Hospital, to be incorporated into a funding plan already in place for the larger city hospitals.

Under this new system, which bases funding on an average length of stay for each patient depending on the type of care they need, the Health Care Centre experienced a $90,667 cut in funding for this year as compared to last year.

"We did get extra money from the Emergency department," said Stabbler. "We got an additional $22,000 because the funding was based on volume rather than the type of treatments, so we were fortunate with that."

But Stabbler said that while the hospital managed to keep all the staff in place for this year, they may not be as lucky for 1993.

"We already know that there will only be a 2½ percent increase for next year and we feel we will have to use the additional dollars because of the acute care funding," said Stabbler. "Right now, our staff is pared to a minimum so what we will have to look at next is how the hospital runs."

Stabbler said reviewing hospital operations means that he will look at what services could be cut. Surgery and emergency care are two that the hospital may decide to drop if funding continues to dry up.

"But we don't want anyone to start panicking about this," Stabbler said. "These are only options. There hasn't been any decisions made. It just means we have to look at the departments if the dollars don't come to see where we could cut back."

Figures for 1993 funding in acute care, long term care and ambulatory care won't be announced until next spring.

Room to breathe

The Dardanelles Chapter of the IODE, Carstairs recently donated a Pediatric Aerosol tent to the Mountain View Health Care Centre. The tent is used to treat children with respiratory problems. This type of equipment is badly needed in the area. Making the presentation is Greta Collins, regent of the Dardanelles Chapter. Also on hand was: Dennis Stabbler, hospital administrator, Marilyn Goetzen, acute care coordinator, Bonnie Weiss, director of patient care, Elsie Bonkowski, services secretary and Barbara Kelm, assistant services secretary.

Coulee course waiting green light

By Janice Harrington

A proposed 18-hole, championship golf course for Didsbury is waiting for a green light to begin construction.

Roy Sackett, President of Westmount Properties Inc., developer of the project, said funding is in place and construction will begin once they get the go-ahead from overseas investors.

"We have just received an update from Hong Kong," Sackett said. "There will be another delay in our start up time for which we apologize. You can rest assured the acquisition will undoubtedly happen. It has been frustrating for all of us, but the end result will be well worth our wait."

Plans to build the golf course, clubhouse and residential development in the coulee north east of Didsbury were announced last July. Sackett said all the plans made public then are still in place.

Planned is a 185 acre development which will include the championship golf course, clubhouse with meeting rooms and a dining room, a pro shop, driving range, motel, tennis courts and a 30 unit villa. Sixty residential lots bordering the course are also to be developed.

Construction of the project, to be called Rosebud Valley Links, is expected to begin sometime within the next 2 months. Sackett said construction will be in phases, beginning with the course, then the residential developments and the clubhouse, and finishing with the motel and tennis courts.

While the delays in the project have left many wondering if it will ever actually happen, Sackett said Didsbury will get a new golf course.

"Nothing is definite until it happens," he said. "But this is coming to Didsbury for sure."

Trade fair set

By Janice Harrington

Plans are in place and booths filled up for the upcoming Didsbury Trade Fair.

Duke Moreau, organizer of the trade fair, said plans for the trade fair, scheduled for April 25 and 26 are going smoothly.

"Things are going really well," Moreau said. "All our tables are sold out and we have good entertainment lined up. I think this year will be a really good show."

The trade fair, which has been held in Didsbury every year for nearly 10 years, spotlights local businesses. And, said Grant Hemming, good entertainment too.

"We've got a great slate of local talent set up for this year's show," said Hemming, one of the trade fair organizers. "People will be well entertained."

Included among this year's stage show at the fair will be local school bands, Didsbury's own jazz choir and band, the Carstairs

Kitchen band and a square dancing troop from Olds.

A fashion show featuring western clothes from a local designer is also scheduled.

Hemming said some of the traditional trade show entertainment will also continue with the murder mystery dinner theatre planned for Friday night and the fiddle jamboree planned for Saturday. Tickets are still available for the dinner theatre and can be reserved through the Didsbury Figure Skating Club.

Some of the new attractions to this year's fair include a petting zoo, a Saturday morning pancake breakfast organized as a fundraiser by the Build Our Pool Society and a sports card trade swap to be held on Sunday. Calgary Stampeder Pee Wee Smith will be on hand to sign autographs, Hemming said.

The trade fair is open Saturday, April 25 from noon to 9 p.m. and Sunday, April 26, noon to 5 p.m. at the Didsbury Memorial Complex.

Graduation congratulations

The Didsbury Fire Department recently participated in a trench rescue and vehicle extrication course put on by Alberta Labour Fire Training School. The firefighters who took the course are: Gary Halfyard, Ric Sanleben, Chester Putz, Brent Cant, Greg Cousins, Wayne Moench, Doug Blachle, John Visser. Missing from the picture are: Walter O'Dell and Bob Wright.

Didsbury Library news

April 30th is the Tax Return deadline and many tax-payers are scrambling to file on time. The Didsbury Library can help. The library stocks current tax guide information for every situation.

"There is a need each year for information beyond what the general tax guide offers. The library has always been committed to providing updated guides, pamphlets and manuals," says Librarian Kathy Craven.

Membership at the library is free and the Federal Government sends all their guides free of charge so this service is available to everyone.

Information covers situations such as moving expenses, claiming your home as a daycare, G.S.T., how does your divorce or separation affect your tax return, employment expenses, farming income, rental income, etc.

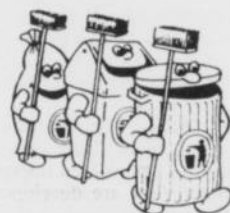

If reading the information is confusing you may want to view Revenue Canada's Stepping Through Your Tax Return video. This video is in VHS format and is available free of charge of your town library.

The library also stocks a good selection of books giving advice on how to save taxes, manage your money and make wise investments.

Didsbury volunteers saluted

Organizers of this year's Volunteer Week want you to stop and think about how many social, cultural and recreational services are run by "volunteer power" in this community.

Kathy Lloyd, Volunteer Week April 26 to May 2. Part of celebrating is recognizing those hard working volunteers."

The Didsbury and District Recreation Board has supported Volunteer Appreciation Awards for years and this year's nominees are, as always, outstanding.

The Kuelker Manufacturing Ltd. Award for most outstanding community minded volunteer has six nominees.

Enid Gardiner is a hockey fan extraordinaire! She has put in numerous hours running the concession and gate for the Didsbury Senior Ramblers Hockey Club. She is also known to help out the Figure Skating Club.

Her nominators say, "the initiative and commitment shown by volunteers like Enid can only serve to strengthen and enrich our community."

Russ McRae is another busy hockey volunteer. He is President of the Didsbury Minor Hockey Association and is known for his constant support of players and coaches. Russ is also League Governor for the Pee Wee C in central Alberta. Aside from hockey, he is actively involved in the Rugby Community Association as Treasurer as well as Sheep 4-H, Cubs, Scouts and Guides.

Hazel Milne has the distinction of being nominated by two different groups. The Ladies Auxiliary prize Hazel for her cheerful and willing attitude. She holds the Secretary's chair but is always willing to go that "extra mile" in all activities.

The Royal Order of Purple also find Hazel indispensable. She is President of the Hospital Volunteers and past Regional President of the Alberta Association of Hospital Volunteers. She can also be found fundraising for hospital equipment, the Red Cross, the Kidney Foundation and the Lung Foundation. She organizes blood donor clinics and works closely with the Volunteer program.

Lance Plewis is the President of the B.O.P. and has given countless hours to the pool committee. He is constantly generating enthusiasm and spends many spare moments planning to bring a new pool to the community.

Ruth Rutley has been nominated by the Zella Community Association for her endless community support. She is President of the Association and spends many hours organizing community events. Ruth is actively involved in Dairy 4-H and the youth in the community. She is a board member of the Dairy Nutrition Council of Alberta and is a well known face at hospital fundraisers and activities.

Bob Swanson's name comes from the Midway Community Association for his efforts in building the skating rink. Almost every moment of his spare time is spent on this project with many trips for supplies. He organizes work bees and never stops working to ensure the growth and completion of the rink.

Three other Appreciation Awards are given out each year. The Gole and Sons 4-H Award for the adult 4-H leader who helps youth has three nominees: Lois Casebeer, Bruce Dowell and Dixie Hodgson.

The J.C. McColloch Award for the person who has made a significant contribution to the rural community and the rural way of life also has three nominees: Harold and Vivian Braun, Ken Marsh and Carol Wright.

John James (J.J.) Swanson is a nominee for the Volunteer Award that recognizes a youth volunteer who contributes to the community.

All these volunteers are just a few of the hundreds of volunteers who make Didsbury a special place.

Salute all those helping hands during Volunteer Week and let them know how big a difference they make.

Waste authority receives grant

The Mountain View Regional Solid Waste Authority has been awarded a $628,000 grant through Alberta's Action on Waste program toward the cost of waste transfer stations constructed at Olds and Sundre. Details of the grant were announced by Olds-Didsbury Constituency M.L.A. Roy Brassard and Alberta Environment Minister Ralph Klein.

"I am pleased that we have been able to assist the Mountain View Authority with funding for these transfer stations," said Mr. Brassard. "These facilities were sorely needed in the area."

Mr. Klein added, "Our goal through Action on Waste is to assist municipalities to reduce the amount of wastes being landfilled. I am pleased the municipalities in the County of Mountain View are developing a regional waste management system."

Grant funds are being provided through the Action on Waste Capital Assistance Program and will be used to offset costs for the recycling portion of the waste transfer stations constructed at Olds and Sundre in 1989. Mr. Klein agreed in 1989 to provide funding for the transfer stations provided they were part of a regional waste management system. The County of Mountain View; the town of Didsbury, Olds and Sundre; and the Village of Cremona have joined together to form the Mountain View Regional Solid Waste Authority and are developing a regional waste management system. Additional funding for the system will be provided through Alberta's Waste Management Assistance Program as funds are available.

OPINIONS/EDITORIAL

Time for green

By Janice Harrington

Being what my family likes to refer to as a "tree hugger", I try to be very conscious of what my actions are doing to the environment. That means I try to run my house on a biodegradable level; using goods ranging from laundry soap to face soap that are natural and harmless when flushed down into the water system. I try to make the same effort with anything that has to leave my house, which means, of course, buying items that are reduced in packaging, can be reused, returned or recycled.

And while I have met many people in this town who are striving to make the same efforts in light of the dangers of pollution, the town as a municipal body certainly isn't.

Didsbury, in terms of town recycling efforts, is light years behind the smaller towns of Sundre and Cremona and is even behind Olds. While no one expects Didsbury to necessarily become a leader in recycling, the town hasn't even made an effort to follow. For example, this town doesn't have a newspaper recycling box and effort to get one have stretched out over several months.

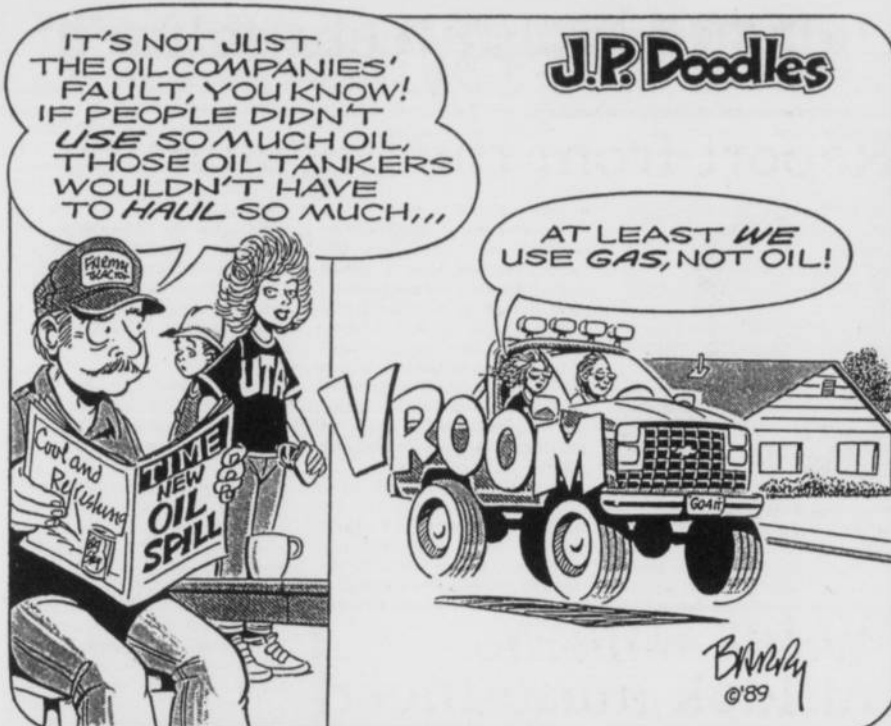

A large part of the problem, as I see it, is the lack of a town environmental committee. I find the lack of such an entity within Didsbury surprising considering the concern this county as a whole is experiencing over landfill space. Every other municipality in this area formed environmental committees long ago, why not Didsbury?

The lack of a town environmental committee is short sighted to say the least. Other community committees are snatching away the funds government is currently offering to start recycling and waste reduction programs. Didsbury is going to miss the bus on these funds if we don't get something started now. That money certainly won't be available forever.

Besides the funding issue, the truth is Didsbury can't afford not to look at alternative solutions to landfilling waste. Everyone knows the room for landfills are running out, and everyone knows the kind of environmental damage this method of disposing garbage is creating. And if town council wants to attract more people and more business to Didsbury, they have to be able to offer the kind of environmentally-friendly services people are looking for these days.

It's time to do something about this problem. I'm willing to sit on the environmental committee and I'd like to see anyone else with the same concerns out to the next town council meeting on April 21 at 7:30 p.m. The first 15 minutes of each council meeting is open for the public to come in and ask questions. Let's do that.

LETTERS

Fiscal responsibility wanted

Dear Editor:

I want to thank The Review for printing my letter headed "Monetary System Flunked" March 24. In it I explained this country's debt, oppressive taxes and the general breakdown we see now can be largely attributed to the fact that the Federal Government has abdicated its constitutional duty to create debt-free money by delegating its authority to the private banking establishment which creates credit from nothing as an interest-bearing debt. The problem has been greatly compounded by the money-squandering governments we have had in power for nearly 25 years so that Canadians now have the highest per capita debt and taxes among the seven most industrialized nations of the world. The average Canadian family of four now pays $2,800 a year more in taxes.

One of the persons who commented on my letter said, "There's a lot of truth in it but what are we to do?" Unfortunately, the letter was too long so The Review had to omit some parts including one paragraph which pointed to a solution.

"Any political party that would challenge and change this unlovely system faces a certain media blackout, as the establishment that profits from the system owns or controls most of the media. You can tell how the various parties stand on this crucial and almost unmentionable issue (the monetary system) by the publicity they do or don't get. Although the Confederation of Regions Party did well in the New Brunswick election and now forms the official opposition there, it gets almost no publicity. It makes no deals with The Establishment. If it did, its reason for being would cease to exist."

Other parts omitted included numerous Bible references to usury and the comment that bank employees could just as well be doing the bookwork for a legitimate system.

The Confederation of Regions Party started out around 1980 as a group called West-Fed, concerned that the Trudeau government was destroying the Canada we knew. However, West-Fed supporters were finally forced to conclude that the old-line parties were not listening to the electorate but were pandering instead to The Establishment. Indeed, they're pressing for even more control as we see our government taking to itself powers that the people never intended to give it - (pushing for the cashless society, more gun control etc. Why you can't even sell a jar of cream to your neighbor!)

And so the political party, Confederation of Regions, was born. Party leader Elmer Knutson and supporters have done much research into our history and constitution and they have investigated beneficial systems and policies from other countries. Mr. Knutson has said, "I can't be bought, sold or traded." And his actions have been consistent with his words. But there is a price to pay - no publicity from the Establishment media.

A new party which has become well known and is growing rapidly, thanks to much publicity, is advocating some of the good COR policies but makes no mention of the fundamental matter of money creation so poses no serious threat to The Establishment.

In conclusion I quote two famous people who spoke from totally opposite points of view. First, Anselm Rothschild who relished the power that the creation of money gave him, "Give me the power to create and control the money of a nation and I care not who makes its laws." And then from Abraham Lincoln who envisioned an honest government that would function for the benefit of the people. "The Government should create, issue and circulate all the currency and credit needed to satisfy the spending power of the Government and the buying power of consumers. The privilege of creating and issuing money is not only the supreme prerogative of Government, but it is the Government's greatest creative opportunity. By the adoption of these principles, the long-felt want for a uniform medium will be satisfied. The taxpayers will be saved immense sums of interest. The financing of all public enterprises, and the conduct of the Treasury will become matters of practical administration. Money will cease to be master and become the servant of humanity."

Yours truly,

Report from the Legislature

Hon. Roy Brassard,
M.L.A. - Olds-Didsbury
Constituency

By now, I am sure, everyone has heard about the Provincial Budget and the strategy to deal with the significant decline in our resource revenue of over $1.2 billion. No one likes a deficit, that's for sure, but I believe it is a good budget given the circumstances. I believe it represents responsible fiscal restraint while at the same time addressing the need to stimulate the economy.

Personal income tax has been reduced by 1% starting July 1st, 1992. We in Alberta already pay the lowest personal income tax in Canada and we still do not have a provincial sales tax. The income tax rate for large manufacturers and processors will be cut from 15.5% to 14.5%. Small businesses will continue to receive the 6% corporate tax rate, again the lowest in Canada.

Total agriculture assistance will exceed $730 million this year, including a near doubling of Alberta's contribution to the Gross Revenue Insurance Program (GRIP).

Although we have the best expenditure management record in Canada, we will continue to eliminate spending where possible and have taken legislative steps to do so.

Government employment will be reduced by 1,000 positions making the civil service smaller than it was 15 years ago. The hiring freeze and the freeze on management salaries will be extended to March 31, 1993 and the MLAs' salaries, frozen for the past 3 years, will continue to be frozen until March 1994. Pension liabilities will be reduced by $4.3

billion through pension reform.

A number of projects are still going ahead in our area because they can't be delayed much longer. Some of these are as follows:

- Highway 2A - North of Olds to Bowden will be contracted out this year.

- Highway 2A - Intersection at the Bergen road will be upgraded for safety reasons.

- Highway 22 - Junction Highway 27 to Junction Highway 587 - final paving will be contracted out this year.

- Highway 27 - The portion entering the Town of Sundre will be funded this year as well as the portion within the Town limits of Olds which will complete the highway upgrading.

- Highway 766 - From the County boundary 4.9 kilometres north will receive selective grading and base course. The 3.2 kilometres west of Red Deer River to the County boundary will receive base paving and the 6.4 kilometres north of the County boundary to Highway 580 will receive a 'seal coat.'

- Highway 27 - west of junction Highway 2 to junction of Highway 21 (approximately 27.7 kilometres) and Highway 2 - north of Olds overpass to south of Bowden (approximately 10.7 kilometres) pavement overlay will both be completed this year.

Other resource roads in our area will be upgraded.

In addition, Didsbury will receive $771,559 of a total grant of $1,543,119 towards the construction of wastewater treatment ponds. As well, $110,634 of a total grant of $310,360 will be awarded this year for a major street improvement.

Water supply outlook announced

Alberta Environment has issued the April 1992 Water Supply Outlook for Alberta.

Dry, warm weather across of the Alberta plains, during March, resulted in a further decrease in the estimated spring runoff. On April 1, 1992, the spring snowmelt runoff was forecast as below-normal to normal in the far northern areas of Alberta. Spring runoff is in progress in central Alberta and complete in southern Alberta. In the southern Alberta plains, low soil moisture, combined with little or no snow on the ground, produced very little runoff this spring. East-central Alberta despite the average to above-average snow pack accumulation this season, has had much-below-normal to below-normal runoff this spring.

On April 1, 1992, mountain snowpack was below-average in the South Saskatchewan River basin headwaters, ranging from 60 to 90 per cent of average. The mountain snowpack was below-average in the South Saskatchewan River basin headwaters, ranging from 60 to 90 per cent of average. The mountain snowpack in the headwaters of the North Saskatchewan, Athabasca, and Peace River ranged from 90 to 110 per cent of average. Mountain snowpacks this year, continue to be significantly lower than last year.

March precipitation was much-below-average to below-average for most of the plains areas of the province. Winter precipitation, November 1, 1991 to March 31, 1992, was much-below-average in southern Alberta, below-average in central Alberta, and above-average in northern Alberta. Winter precipitation ranged from less than 30 up to 50 per cent of average on the southern plains.

As of April 1, 1992, groundwater levels for both shallow and deep wells were normal to above-normal in southern areas; below-normal for most east-central, central and far northern areas; and normal to above-normal in the Edson-Edmonton-Lloydminster area.

Water storage in most of the major irrigation and hydroelectric reservoirs is at normal levels of the season, which is similar to this time last year.

As of April 1st, natural streamflow volumes for the irrigation season, from May to September 1992, are forecast to be below-average for all major river basins. The volume forecasts as a per cent of average are presented in the following table. A comparison to 1991 is also provided.

May to September 1992 Natural Streamflow Volume Forecasts as a per cent of average - Milk River at Milk River - 45%; May-September 1991 - 101%.

Oldman River at Lethbridge - May to Sept. 1992 - 70%; May-Sept. - 115%;

Bow River at Calgary - May to Sept. 1992 - 85%; May-Sept. 1991 - 118%;

Red Deer at Red Deer - May to Sept. 1992 - 75%; May-Sept. 1991 - 122%;

North Saskatchewan River at Edmonton - May to Sept. 1992 - 85%; May-Sept. 1991 - 112%.

*The forecast is based on the period of April 1 to September 30.

Precipitation between now and the end of September will greatly affect the summer water supply in southern and central Alberta. The streamflow volume forecasts will be updated monthly until midsummer.

Teaching by example

Louise Feltham,
Wild Rose M.P.

This is an incident that actually occurred at the National War Memorial during the service to mark the anniversary of the Battle For Vimy Ridge. Among the onlookers were two men with young boys.

As the wreaths were being placed at the base of the memorial, one of the men explained to the boys, "That man is Mr. Hnatyshyn, the Governor General, he is a very nice man." A moment later the same man said to the boys, "That's Brian Mulroney, The Prime Minister, he's a horrible man."

A woman in the crowd turned to the man and asked, "Have you met the Prime Minister?"

"No, I haven't," the man replied.

"Then how can you say he is a horrible man?" she said.

Do people stop and think about the effect of their words--words based on stories read and stories heard--especially, the effect of their words on young people?

We tell our children to be respectful, to be careful not to repeat unkind words, and not to spread stories that are based on hearsay. But children are natural mimics. The greatest teacher is example.

Triggers determine NISA payments

While Alberta farmers will be receiving Net Income Stabilization Account (NISA) forms for 1991 soon, they will have different rules for payouts than during the program's first year.

Farmers who filled out NISA forms for 1990 were mailed 1991 forms last week. Federal officials say this will allow most producers to complete their NISA applications at the same time as their 1991 income tax returns. However, the NISA application deadline is June 30.

One of two criteria, or triggers, will have to be met for farmers to receive NISA payments for 1991. NISA allows farmers to deposit up to two per cent of their eligible net sales into an individualized "savings" account. These deposits are matched by the federal and provincial governments with each contributing half.

During the program's first year of operation the normal withdrawal rules were suspended. For 1991, withdrawals will be triggered by either a stabilization or minimum income mechanism. The stabilization trigger is pulled when a farmer's gross margin—net sales minus eligible expenses—falls below the previous five year average (or portion thereof). The minimum income trigger applies when net income from all sources falls below $10,000. This minimum may be doubled to $20,000 if the farmer is married or supports dependents.

"Both of these triggers apply to a low income year and allow farmers access to their NISA account," says Good. "The stabilization trigger also makes the Schedule D of your application very important," he adds. This schedule, "Retroactive gross margin calculation", is used to determine the gross margin for the 1990 taxation year, the average of 1990 and 1989, and the average of 1988 through 1990.

"By choosing the highest gross margin possible, you may be entitled to the stabilization trigger for 1991, if your 1991 margin was lower than the previous years," he says.

Good says Federal Support Adjustment Measures I (FSAM I) is a continuation of last year's program and is based on one and one half per cent of net eligible sales. Since NISA is the vehicle used to distribute FSAM support, the FSAM I entitlement is exempted from the withdrawal triggers.

To receive the full FSAM I payment, producers should automatically contribute the maximum two per cent of their eligible net sales Good says. For example, on $100,000 of eligible net sales a producer can contribute $2,000 to NISA and earn $2,000 of matching government funds and $1,500 of FSAM I support. If the producer didn't qualify for a triggered NISA payment, the producer's net cost (including the $40 administration fee) for $2,000 in government support would be $540 (producer contribution of $2,000 less $1,500 in FSAM plus $40 administration fee).

In another change, farmers can't use income from prior years to enhance their 1991 eligible net sales. "This was a special incentive only for year one of the program," notes Good.

Grain fed to beef cattle, hogs and sheep still qualify for NISA purposes, however livestock producers and custom feeders will see a new form. Last year there was a separate coefficient form, and this year it will be part of Schedule A.

Two new appendices have been added to the application guide. Appendix A is a commodity list and line code listing the eligible NISA commodities and tells where to enter this information on the application form. The second appendix lists all program payments and line codes indicating which qualify for NISA support.

Just over 39,000 Alberta farmers sent in NISA forms for the program's first year. Their average eligible net sales were $56,338. Approximately $108 million in direct benefits will go to Alberta producers from NISA's first year.

Farmers who need more information about NISA or help in completing their forms, can call the NISA toll-free line at 1-800-665-NISA.

"I switched from Avadex to Assert in '91. Assert's early wild oat control worked extremely well for me."

Brian Clarke
Olds, Alta.

Here's how Assert's leaf and root absorption provides you with consistently superior wild oat control.

Assert's leaf absorption provides outstanding control of wild oats. That's because Assert is absorbed into the leaves and travels to the growing point of the plant, where it stops growth.

Assert can be absorbed by the roots to deliver an additional knockout punch against wild oats. This root activity maximizes Assert's efficiency - for consistent control in all kinds of soil and weather conditions.

Only Assert is absorbed by the leaves and roots of wild oats. This unique double action control maximizes Assert's wild oat killing power. And that means cleaner fields.

For the most powerful and consistent control of wild oats, choose Assert - the new standard in wild oat control.

Earth Day video promotes awareness

Mother Nature is starring in her own video, and it's available right here in Olds.

It's all part of a unique annual video free rental service being offered through Nutters Bulk and Natural Foods.

The song "Mother Earth" was actually first brought to life on film back in 1991 through the efforts of artist Morry Stearn from Victoria, B.C. Stearn apparently developed the song, which would later be put to visuals, to offer five minutes of commemorative viewing intended to inspire the viewer to appreciate the earth's precious resources.

"It's meant to be a sort of tribute to the environment," says Nutter's Manager, Cindy Hammer. "It's really not a surprise that we support Morry Stearn's efforts here because Nutters has always been equally concerned about the environment...it's an essential part of our business."

Hammer says the Nutters store in Olds, for example, operates under a minimum packaging concept, granting discounts to conscientious customers bringing in their own containers. "We're also continually developing a growing focus on natural and organic foods. It's a big part of what we're all about here," Hammer adds.

Any organization, school, or interest group, in and around the county, can take home the five minute tribute to Mother Earth from the Nutters outlet in Olds, or any of the 27 other stores throughout western Canada.

While the content of the video is primarily tailored to appeal to an adult audience, Hammer stresses children often find it equally entertaining.

"There's really something for everyone in the video. I think once you take the time to sit and watch, it doesn't take too long before you find the underlying meaning involved is a common interest to us all."

Anyone interested in viewing between Monday and Wednesday the video is encouraged to pay Nutters a visit and pick it up in person. To help you think green (literally) Hammer said the first 100 customers will receive a complimentary spruce seedling.

Youths plead not guilty

By Janice Harrington

Three young boys, charged last month with sexual assault, plead not guilty in a Sundre Youth Court last week.

The boys, who cannot be identified under the Young Offenders Act, were charged by Sundre RCMP after a mother complained that her 13-year-old daughter had allegedly been attacked in front of a classroom of children at the Sundre Junior High School.

The boys, one aged 14 and the other two aged 13, will face trial on July 21.

School board officials would not comment on the outcome of a suspension hearing for the boys held but said they would continue to receive schooling whether they were expelled or not.

"Because they are under 16, we as a school board have the obligation to educate them," said Gordon Rancier, acting school superintendent.

Rancier said the boys will either have to be let back in to the school or enrolled in a home education program.

Learning by action

Emergency response units from Olds and Sundre and Mobil Oil Harmattan took part in a mock disaster scenario last Wednesday. Staging these disaster scenarios and evaluating the community's response is part of an accreditation process hospitals must go through every 5 years. In this scenario, which took place in front of Mobil's Harmattan plant, a car hit a rail car full of molten sulphur, flipped over, and another car, swerving to miss the original accident hit a bus full of school kids. In the scenario, 40 people were injured. Paramedics and firefighters from Olds and Sundre as well as the Olds Emergency Response team were called in to deal with the mock disaster. Mobil employees also used the scenario to practise their emergency procedures. Emergency personnel had to deal with injuries ranging from sulphur burns and inhalation to head injuries. Alberta Public Safety Service organized and evaluated the disaster.

Bakery to become home

By Janice Harrington

The Smiths really take their work home with them, or maybe it's the other way around.

The Carstairs couple, who took over the Calico Kitchen last fall, are in the midst of building a home for themselves above their bakery.

"We are spending so many hours at the bakery that by the time we got home and unwound it was time to go to bed," said Oda Smith, who owns Calico Kitchen with her husband. "We never had the chance to do anything else."

As a result, the Smiths have begun construction work on extending the bakery building they occupy beside the Carstairs post office, and on adding a second floor.

"We are going to build a small, two bedroom apartment," Smith said. "That is all we need, there is only the two of us, my husband Gerry and I and our little dog."

Smith said adding the apartment to the business means she will be able to pop in during quiet moments and to things she currently has to stay up past her bedtime for.

"This means I can just run upstairs and throw in a load of laundry when I have a spare minute," she said. "It will make life a little easier for us."

Smith said they have no definite date when construction of their new home will be complete because they are running into problems due to the age of the building.

Local artists wanted

By Janice Harrington

Local artists who create everything from handicrafts to fine arts are being asked to show off their work next weekend.

Members of the Chinook Creative Arts Foundation are calling on all local artists doing everything from bronze sculpting to sewing, to join in on their 21st annual Art Show on April 25.

Alan Reid, one of the organizers of the Art Show, said everyone is invited to put their wares into the day-long show.

"We welcome anybody to bring their arts and crafts, and it doesn't have to be just fine art, it can be anything. There is also no limit on where you have to live to come to the show either," Reid said.

The art show, which will be held at the Chinook Creative Arts building in Water Valley, has been running since 1972. Reid said the purpose of the annual event is to spotlight some of the local talent.

"We don't judge any of the work," Reid said. "This is just to show it off."

Reid said visitors to the show can expect to see every type of art and handicraft at this year's show.

"We've had alot of good shows, and we always have lots of people who do all sorts of things; everything from bronzes to sewing to fine art to glass work and leather work."

Artists interested in submitting work to the show should drop off their work Friday afternoon, April 24. The show itself will run Saturday, April 25 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

When should you call an ambulance

By Kathy Lloyd

There are some circumstances when it isn't obvious that an ambulance should be called.

The rule of thumb recommended by Dr. Jim Thompson, Medical Director of Sundre Ambulance is always to call first, no matter what the emergency is. "It may very well be safe to transport a patient in a private vehicle but we can help determine that and offer advice on how best to get the patient to emergency without complicating the condition," Dr. Thompson explains.

Sundre Ambulance has an excellent response record, rivaling that of major cities like Calgary. On average, the in-town response time is less than 8 minutes and the rural response time is less than 20 minutes.

In addition, the Sundre Ambulance is backed by the full trauma and life support staff and facilities at the Sundre General Hospital. "We are fully equipped and capable of helping patients from the minute we take the call," Dr. Thompson adds.

Many people don't realize how much can be done over the phone to assist a patient even before the ambulance arrives. "It's important not to hang up after the emergency has been reported," urges John Rose, Manager of Sundre Ambulance.

"That call has to be made first, though, before we can do anything," said Dr. Thompson citing the example of a bee sting patient who was having difficulty breathing.

"We coached the caller on how to safely transport the patient and dispatched the ambulance to meet them enroute," he explained. The patient might not have gotten care in time without that call being made.

In Sundre, the dispatchers are hospital nurses and can give medical assistance themselves or have a doctor brought in immediately. They receive training and yearly upgrading to perform their dispatching duties.

"Dispatching is always an ambulance service's greatest obstacle," said Rose, but he believes these can be overcome in the Sundre area by public understanding of the ambulance system and the possibility of a 911 system being implemented in the next five years.

Alberta Health and AGT are presently looking into the feasibility of a regional emergency system for Central Alberta. With party lines a thing of the past, it is now possible to institute a tri-services system where police, fire and both ground and air ambulances can be dispatched from the universal 911 number.

"All in all, I believe we can improve the ambulance service here by simply explaining our procedure to the public so they understand and know what to expect," Dr. Thompson said.

FACING AIDS

LEARNING ABOUT AIDS

Alberta students have an advantage over adults who are past classroom days. Today's students are learning about HIV and AIDS. They will be well informed to help stop the spread of the disease. Also, they will be able to make informed choices about their own sexual behaviour.

Studies show that young people in Alberta want adults to help them understand the issues surrounding AIDS. They want to discuss their questions at home. Adults who have basic knowledge about HIV and AIDS can help children form their own values and help them make their own best choices about sexual behaviour and drug use.

Some adults have had few chances to learn about AIDS. Where can you go to get accurate information either for yourself or for discussions with those you care about? The health units throughout Alberta have a range of information on healthy sexuality and AIDS. Another good source is your family doctor. Public libraries have many useful resources, particularly for discussing HIV and AIDS with children.

Three provincial Sexually Transmitted Disease (STD) Clinics offer free information and confidential help. The toll-free provincial AIDS/STD Information Line at 1-800-772-AIDS has recorded information 24 hours a day. For specific questions a nurse can be reached at the same number Monday through Friday from 8:15 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Nine community AIDS groups in Alberta provide helpful information about protection as well as social and emotional support to people affected by AIDS. Your local Health Unit and telephone book listings under 'AIDS' have numbers for these groups. The Feacher of Hope Society provides AIDS information and support for native persons. They can be reached in Edmonton at 424-4767.

By all means, learn all you can. But knowledge is not enough.

The spread of HIV and AIDS can only be stopped when people not only understand, but support and practice behaviours that reduce the risk of the spread of HIV. The more that you know about AIDS and its prevention, the better you will be able to protect yourself and others.

For more information about HIV/AIDS you can call:

- the health unit or your doctor in your community
- the STD/AIDS Information Line, toll-free, at 1-800-772-2437
- community AIDS organizations in Calgary 228-0155, Edmonton 429-2437, Grande Prairie 538-3388, High River 938-4911, Jasper 852-5274, Lethbridge 328-8186, and Red Deer 346-8858
- Sexually Transmitted Disease clinics for free information, and HIV testing in Calgary 297-4562, Edmonton 427-2834, and Fort McMurray 743-3232.

Rosebud's "The Skinflint" opens

Rosebud Theatre's latest offering, the musical comedy, "The Skinflint", opened the evening of April 3. "The Skinflint" is a farcical story of a miserly rancher who loves money more than anything.

Director Harold Courchene, who also adapted the script, stated, "I watched as people walked out of the show with tears in their eyes - from laughing so hard. Many of the guests have told me, 'After a bad week, this is just what I needed.' If that's true, then I've accomplished just what I set out to do."

Royal Sproule stars as Harpagon, the Skinflint. Also performing is Lyle Penner as his zany hired man, Lafleche. Whenever these two characters appear on stage, laughter follows. The whole cast puts in very sound performances in this amusing musical.

Speaking of music, it is an important part of the "The Skinflint", and was all written by apprentices of Rosebud School of the Arts. Among the songs are Harpagon's "Money, Money, Money" and the hilarious, "A Mountie Always Gets His Man", performed by Cam Bertsch as the sheepish mountie.

Included among the opening performance audience was Clive Padfield from the Ministry of Culture and Multiculturalism. MLA Stan Schumacher was also on hand to present a plaque in recognition of the completion of the second phase of the theatre renovation project through the support of the Community Facility Enhancement Project.

"The Skinflint" continues until May 30, with matinee performances on Wednesdays and Thursdays, and evening performances on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays. Reservations can be made by calling 677-2221.

Elks take Chinook league

By Janice Harrington

The Olds Elks turned around a two game deficit last weekend to take three games straight and win the Chinook Hockey League Championship.

Elks coach and general manager Bill Turville said the team veterans gave the rest of the team the edge to win the title after being down 2 games in a best of 5 series playoff match with the Innisfail Eagles.

"We definitely weren't playing as a team. It took some of the veterans to get us going again and the rest of the team, the newer guys, just took that up for the rest of the playoffs."

Turville said that turn around helped the Elks beat the Eagles three straight, 8 to 3, 7 to 3 and 6 to 3.

"It was rough and tumble hockey, that's for sure," Turville said. "Especially that final game because the Eagles really came to play and we had to play a really big game to pull it out of the hat."

The Elks also managed to win the final game in the series despite the loss of two players, Lars Olsen and Cy Laflamme, who were suspended by league officials.

"Why the league decided to suspend players in the last game of the playoffs is beyond me," said Turville. "But we managed to win anyway."

Turville said the players are really pleased with the season they ended with the league title.

"It's been an excellent season for us. We've had lots of individual and team records set this year, so we are pretty happy with how things went."

The Kid from Caroline is great, his middle name is thrill, Hello there, figure skating world, three times King of the Hill.

At Oakland, at the Worlds again, in 1992, His best shot, that's Kurt Browning, doing all that he could do.

Atop the podium once more, Kurt stood beside each friend,

Petrenko, gold, Stojko the bronze and Kurt a silver blend. As is his nature, human being, from wings to centre stage,

Kurt once more acted like fine wine that just improves with age.

The Kid, who skated us through doors we'd never gone before,

First quad, three times World Champion, ice ills and hills galore.

With full respect for Victor's win to Elvis and the rest, And to the fact now record books read Kurt as second best,

It may say on some sheet somewhere Kurt Browning's reign is done,

But to his fans he'll always be, Kurt Browning, Number ONE.

Power of the playoffs

Amazing how the fans forget,
Regular season play,
The power of the playoffs sweep
Dull memories away.

Competitive or otherwise,
September into spring,
Fans patiently await until
Teams really do their thing.

In '92 an extra drag,
Unprecedented strike,
But trust the playoffs to light up
A fire we always like.

In heartbeats and in record books,
Best hockey of the year,
Begins when guys who make it, then
Suit up in playoff gear.

Ice hockey aphrodisiac,
Once more watch it come true,
The power of the playoffs will,
Undoubtedly shine through.

Business profits from diversity

By Janice Harrington

The Queen Mary II has set sail again.

But this Queen Mary is not a luxury cruise ship, it's in fact a stage, close to the size of a ship, manufactured right here in Didsbury.

Linda Buschert, Purchasing Agent for Kuelkers Manufacturing Ltd. said the stage was built by her company for the Calgary Stampede.

"It is the grandstand stage that they pull out after the chuckwagon races," Buschert said. "The old one, which they called the Queen Mary, broke last year, so this is the Queen Mary II."

The stage, made out of steel, is 35 feet wide by 100 feet long, and had to be manufactured in three pieces.

"It's a very impressive piece of equipment," Buschert said. "It operates with hydraulics and has big wheels so it can move forward and sideways."

Buschert said the order to build the Queen Mary II came earlier this year.

"We were lucky to get it because we had the smallest run of hyd'rumps we have ever had this year," she said. "The stage was a blessing because it kept the guys busy."

The stage took 1,600 man hours, or 16 weeks worth of work to build. It is worth over $100,000.

Buschert said Kuelkers has been bidding on a variety of projects lately in an effort to diversify.

"The state of the industry is such right now that if we totally depended on the agricultural field, we would have some guys out of work," she said.

Besides the stage, Buschert said the company is also busy working on high compression balers that will be shipped for use here in Alberta, in Quebec and in Washington.

The Queen Mary II is currently having the final touches put on at the Stampede grounds.

AND THE WINNER IS . . .

It has been said that God wisely created man so that he could not kick himself too hard or pat himself too easily. However, there are currently a multitude of 4-H members in the county who have just finished one, two or even three levels of Public Speaking, each individual member deserves a pat on the back, a round of applause and words of praise for participating.

4-H PUBLIC SPEAKING FORMAT

4-H Public Speaking consists of two parts, the prepared speech and the impromptu. Junior speakers who are 10-13 years of age present a 3-5 minute prepared speech while senior speakers, age 14 and up are required to have a prepared speech of 4-6 minutes.

Once all the prepared speeches are finished each 4-H member pulls a card which has 3 topics on it. Twenty seconds are allocated to select a topic, one minute is allowed for idea collecting and note making. Then the impromptu of 1-2 minutes in length is presented.

JUDGES SUGGESTIONS

At each level of 4-H Public Speaking there are 3 judges who evaluate the speeches and give individual and group comments.

The following are judges comments from District or Level Three Public Speaking.

1. Choose topics suitable to your age and knowledge level. A speaker's enthusiasm can be contagious. Once the audience is enthralled the speaker can relax and also enjoy the presentation.

2. Limit the information. you present to 3 or 4 major well developed points. Too much information along with too many statistics will be overwhelming rather than complimentary to a speech.

3. Where possible stress Canadian context. For example: In the topic of Space Exploration a reference to Mark Garneau, Rita Bondair or the Canadarm would be appropriate.

4. The judges were impressed by the excellent eye contact that the speakers maintained with the audience. Don't we all remember being in school and when we knew the teacher was looking at us we paid attention.

5. Emphasis is important. Voice changes catch the ear of the audience plus gestures can never be overlooked.

6. Impromptu teach thinking and speaking on the spot. In other words the brain is engaged before the mouth is put in gear. Beware giving statistics in an impromptu situation as there is no time to check facts.

CONGRATULATIONS

Recent winners at the District 4-H Public Speaking at Olds College were:

Juniors: Suzanne Lawson, Mountainview Dairy; Ben MacKlin, Eagle Beef; with alternate Ida Dahlman, Sundre Beef.

Seniors: Tanya Sheehan, Cremona Multi; Lindsay Robertson, South Cremona; Tracy Gardner, Eagle Beef; Tanya Gano, South Cremona; with alternate Stacey Bechtold, Olds Multi.

Sucralose a new alternative to sugar

The processing potential of a newly approved sweetener may be its most valuable use says an Alberta Agriculture product development specialist.

"Sucralose meets the consumer expectation criteria of low calorie and 'natural quality,' plus has a benefit no other currently available low calorie sweetener has--it should be useable in cooking and baking," says Lorea Ladner of Alberta Agriculture's Food Processing Development Centre in Leduc.

"From a food technologist standpoint, sucralose is exciting because it's stable under processing conditions of high temperatures and high acid," she adds.

Some of the possible product applications are the same as other sugar alternatives such as aspartame in beverages. Sucralose could also be used in ketchups, salad dressings, jams and jellies, canned fruits and vegetables, ice cream, breakfast cereals, baking mixes, ready to bake doughs, sweetened pastries and pudding/pie fillers.

Ladner says she sees applications for the sweetener in the dietetic field including foods for diabetics.

"Because sucralose was so recently given approval in Canada, we won't see products with sucralose in the near term. The applied research for product development will take some time. The biggest challenge, as always, will be consumer acceptability," she says.

Sucralose is made from sucrose, or what is commonly called sugar. While very similar to sugar's taste and physical form, sucralose has no calories and is 600 times sweeter than sugar. This offers a tremendous calorie saving. For example, a fruit flavored drink's calories could be reduced by 98 per cent, a jelly by 50 per cent, or a fruit pie by about 37 per cent.

Ladner notes because so little sucralose is needed in comparison with sugar to make a product sweet, some bulking agent is required in baked goods to maintain volume. That wouldn't necessarily mean more calories she adds. "Combined with fat replacements, a final product could be very light in terms of both sugar and fats."

Fifteen years were spent in development and extensive testing of sucralose, first discovered in Britain in 1976. It is non-toxic, non-carcinogenic and inherently biodegradable in the environment. Sucralose will be distributed in Canada under the trade name "Splenda."

For more information about the industrial uses of sucralose, contact Ladner at the Food Processing Development Centre in Leduc at 986-4793.

National housing starts unchanged

March housing starts at 159,000 units seasonally adjusted at an annual level (SAAR), remained at almost the same level as last month's, according to Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation (CMHC). The revised February level stood at 160,000 units SAAR.

In urban centres, a slight rise in single-detached starts was offset by a decline in multiple starts. Starts of single-detached units rose to 63,000 units, up from 61,000 units in February. Multiple starts fell 3,000 from the last month, to 71,000 units.

"Housing activity continues to be strongest in the west, with both Alberta and B.C. posting increased levels for starts. Quebec also rebounded from its very low level in February. But these gains were largely offset by a decline in Ontario's multiple starts following February's surge," said Rita Daniel, Director in CMHC's Market Analysis Centre.

"Reports of a stronger resale market and rising mortgage loan demand suggest higher starts activity over the coming months," she added. "These developments are prompted in part by the strong initial response to CMHC's 95 per cent mortgage loan insurance."

Housing starts in Quebec were up 44 per cent to 26,000 units SAAR however, they remained below historical levels for March. In recent months, starts in Quebec had dipped, following the ending of the provincial government program supporting homeownership.

Markets continued to show strength in the two most western provinces. Starts rose to 38,000 units SAAR in British Columbia and to 15,000 units SAAR in Alberta.

Ontario starts were down 18 per cent to 49,000 units SAAR. The decline was split evenly between social and market housing. The drop in social housing construction followed an increase during February. In market housing, starts remained on a down trend both for single and multiple units.

Demand up for five percent down payments

Interest in Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation's "First Home Loan Insurance" initiative continued to build in its second month of operation, Elmer MacKay, Minister responsible for CMHC announced recently.

Since its inception on Feb. 3, over 12,500 Canadian households have made use of First Home Loan Insurance to purchase their first house with a downpayment as low as five percent. This represents over a quarter of all homeowner loans which CMHC has insured to date this year. The total value of First Home loans is almost $1.2 billion.

"The response has been tremendous," said Mr. MacKay. "The lower downpayment program was clearly the boost needed by renters to enter the world of homeownership."

"We are especially pleased that a large portion of the first-time home buyers are spending only 24 percent of their incomes, well below the CMHC limit of 35 percent, on mortgage payments, taxes and heat. This indicates the program is assisting prudent consumers who have sufficient income to carry a mortgage, but who have been postponing homeownership because they didn't have the necessary downpayment," Mr. MacKay said.

To date, 89 percent of First Home loans are for existing houses. The high volume of sales in the existing market is also expected to generate a subsequent increase in new home activity across the country as the spring building season begins.

Analyzing GRIP with a computer

Understanding how the Gross Revenue Insurance Plan (GRIP) works is the key to fine tuning your farming and GRIP decisions says an Alberta Agriculture farm management economist.

"Even though GRIP is a year old, many farmers aren't familiar with important aspects of the program," says Doug Duff of the farm business management branch. "And GRIP does have a role to play in seeding decisions."

"Analyzing GRIP on the individual farm level is necessary for farmers to achieve their best results. Looking at your own farm is important, because the decisions a neighbor makes may not be the same decisions you should make."

"In our consulting work at the farm business management branch, we've found a graphic approach in explaining the program has worked very well," he adds.

To assist in this graphic presentation, the farm business management branch developed a spreadsheet as an educational tool. "It can present an individual farmer's information in a graph and cut the time required to get a feel of how the various components of GRIP work to under 30 minutes," he says. "It's not a substitute for detailed, technical, whole-farm analysis," he cautions.

This spreadsheet program is available for IBM compatibles only and is free of charge to Alberta farmers. Send a blank computer disk—double sided, double density, 3.5 inch or 5.25 inch—to the Farm Business Management Branch, Box 2000, Olds, Alberta, T0M 1P0. Please ask for the GRIPANL worksheets.

"The disk you get back will have two versions of the program on it," says Bruce Waldie, farm computer application specialist. One is a compiled version that

The Way of Life

The Importance of Easter
By Pastor James Miller
West Zion Mennonite Church

Easter is a very important celebration in the Christian Church. It is far more than a Spring holiday or Easter rabbits or colored eggs. Easter is the celebration of the Resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead. Belief in the resurrection is foundational to our Christian faith.

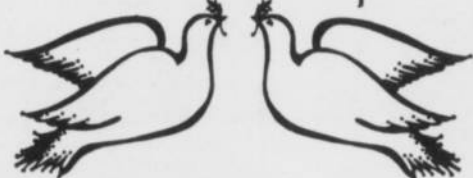

Without the resurrection we would only have a set of teachings, a moral code, to follow. When writing the New Testament Scriptures, the Apostle Paul said that "if Christ has not been raised, our faith is futile."

The Gospel writers' accounts of the crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus are fascinating reading. The tomb was empty even though it had been guarded by armed guards. The enemies of Jesus could not produce his body even though they tried to cover up the resurrection event by saying that the disciples of Jesus stole his body. On the contrary, Jesus was seen by many people during the next forty days.

Jesus Christ broke the power death by dying on the cross and then three days later being raised to life again. Because of this reality, we can now believe the testimony of Christ when he said, "I am the resurrection and the life. He who believes in me will live, even though he dies."

In Memoriam

A Tribute to Dad, Ronald Somers, who went to his Heavenly Home, April 22, 1988.

"He was a pillar of strength, upholding Those entrusted to his care... And faith that moved a mountain When he lifted his voice in prayer. He understood each sorrow And smiled at childish joy... He was the firmness of a mighty rock, With the heart of a happy, quiet boy. He was the perfect definition Of dependability... As he gathered up the storm clouds Scattering sunshine reassuringly. It was a strange and magic miracle, His voice... I knew so well... It would echo like a rushing sea, Yet soften to a tinkling bell! He was strong enough to fill the role Of headship, God had planned... Yet weak enough to shed a tear While grasping a small grandchild's frail hand."

Lovingly remembered by Ruth 1-1tp

Crime of the week

This week Crime Stoppers is seeking your help in finding a man who assaulted a female in Red Deer.

On Thursday, January 2, 1992 at about 10:00 p.m. a young woman was walking alone near the old railway station in Red Deer. She was grabbed from behind by a man and thrown to the ground. She managed to fight off her attacker and ran for help.

The police found two items at the scene of the assault that may have fallen out of a pocket of the attacker. One was a matchbook from ECOS Restaurant in Brooks and the other a pen from the Grizzly Motel in Swan Hills, Alberta.

The subject is described as a white male, about 29 years, 6 foot 2 inches, 180 pounds. He had dirty blonde, curly hair and at the time wore a full mustache. He was wearing a ball cap, a plaid lumberjack style coat and blue jeans.

If you have any information as to the identity of this man, call Crime Stoppers now at 340-TIPS, that's 340-8477, or call toll free at 1-800-661-TIPS.
